

Feel confident and equipped to support healthcare professional students in the classroom

We are providing a free workshop for service users and carers involved in the teaching of student healthcare professionals.

The interactive face-to-face workshop is co-produced by service users and academics with the aim to equip participants with practical ways to create quality learning opportunities using lived experience.

We will cover an introduction to teaching as well as explore the role of lived experience in the education of health care professionals.

What do I need to do next?

If you would like to enroll onto the workshop, or ask more information, please email healthsciencesserviceusers@surrey.ac.uk with the date that you would like to attend.

Details of the workshop

The workshop is open to service users and carers who are either involved in, or interested in being involved in the teaching of student healthcare professionals.

The workshop is run over one day and is held at the University of Surrey, School of Health Sciences based in Kate Granger Building, Surrey Research Park, Guildford, GU2 7YH.

Dates of the workshop

10th July – 10am – 4:00pm or

11th July – 10am- 4:00pm

